SB Edwards wins High Scribe screenwriting contest

Vancouver-based screenwriter SB Edwards (Travelers) has won the Idaho-based Sun Valley Film Festival's High Scribe Award for her feature screenplay Nowhere. Chris Moore, producer of Manchester By the Sea and Good Will Hunting, chose Edwards' script from a group of four finalists. As the winner, Edwards will receive one-on-one mentorship from Moore. Nowhere tells the story of a young woman who attempts to clear her twin brother's name when he becomes the focus of a homicide investigation, only to discover he's tied to a string of unsolved murders.
